To whom it may concern,

I have known Donald James Kehl since 1993. We have built a multifaceted, mutually beneficial business relationship which continues to grow.

I originally retained him to produce my first CD project, on which he has been instrumental in achieving a better quality than even I envisioned. Since then, we have designed a studio guitar that will be unequaled, have secured the patents, and are currently planning the marketing launch. He has been invaluable in strategic planning for my band, my guitar business, and on several musical projects, including my latest album called "Aquila". We have already received interest from representatives of Columbia Records.

His talent, skill, character, and business etiquette warrant my complete confidence. He has proven himself to be a man of his word and has always delivered whatever he promised - - on time! Due to the manner in which I saw him do business with myself and many others, I decided to invest my entire life savings of $20,000 in his recording studio in March of 1996. Please note that this investment was made without the benefit of even a handshake. I entrusted to him my funds based entirely on his word.

To this date, everything has gone better than planned. Further investments in the near future are anticipated to enhance both our businesses.

In April of 1995, I saw him create a global TV network project which required over $300 million in start up capital. He wrote the business plan, assembled and lead an incredible team of highly qualified professionals, and helped negotiate numerous deals where everyone involved was pleased. It was heart breaking to see the project dissolve due to circumstances beyond his control.

I highly recommend this man to command and guide any business relating to recording, the producing of recording artists, creative project leadership, or the structuring and negotiating of win/win deals.

Sincerely,

Don Karg
